Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Steffens et al (PCT Pub. No.: WO00/76724), Patent No.: US 6,393,887 is the English language equivalent of the PCT application, and is used in the rejection below.

Art Unit: 3726

1. Steffens et al teaches a deep-rolling device of a deep-rolling machine for crankshafts designed in scissor construction with two swivellable scissor arms lying opposite each other, each carrying a deep-rolling roller head or a backing roller head respectively, where the backing roller head is fitted with two parallel-axially arranged backing rollers of which the rotational axes lie in a common plane, with a drive device which generates the closing and opening movement of the deep-rolling machine and the deep-rolling force, wherein the backing roller head (14) has at least one axial guide (27) which in swivel direction (35) is arranged in front of the backing rollers (21, 22) to close the scissor arm (10) carrying the backing rollers (21, 22), the longitudinal axis (41) of which is perpendicular to the rotational axis (4) of the crankshaft (3) and lies in a direction which encloses an acute angle (37) with the plane (34) of the rotational axes (32, 33) of the backing rollers (21, 22), and the axial width (28) of which is greater than the width (29) of the backing roller head (14) and slightly less than the distance (29a) of the oil collars (25, 26) of a main bearing journal (5) or big end bearing journal (6) (see Figures 2-4 and column 1 lines 40-67).

Steffens et al teaches a deep-rolling device according to Claim 1, wherein the acute angle (37) is 0° and the longitudinal axis (41) of the axial guide (27) has a distance (s) from the plane (34) (see Figure 3 and column 3 line 24).

3.

Steffens et al teaches a deep-rolling device according to Claim 1 wherein the axial guide (27) has a contour, which is prismatic, cylindrical, crowned or composed of different geometric sections (39, 40) (see Figure 3 and column 3 lines 42-46).

Steffens et al teaches a deep-rolling device according to Claim 1 wherein several axial guides (27) are allocated to each of two backing rollers (21, 22), the axial width (28) of which guides is less than the width (29) of the backing roller head (14) and the outer width of which is slightly less than the distance (29a) of the oil collars (25, 26) of a main bearing journal (5) or big end bearing journal (6) (see Figure 4).
